

THE BLUE BOOK

1973

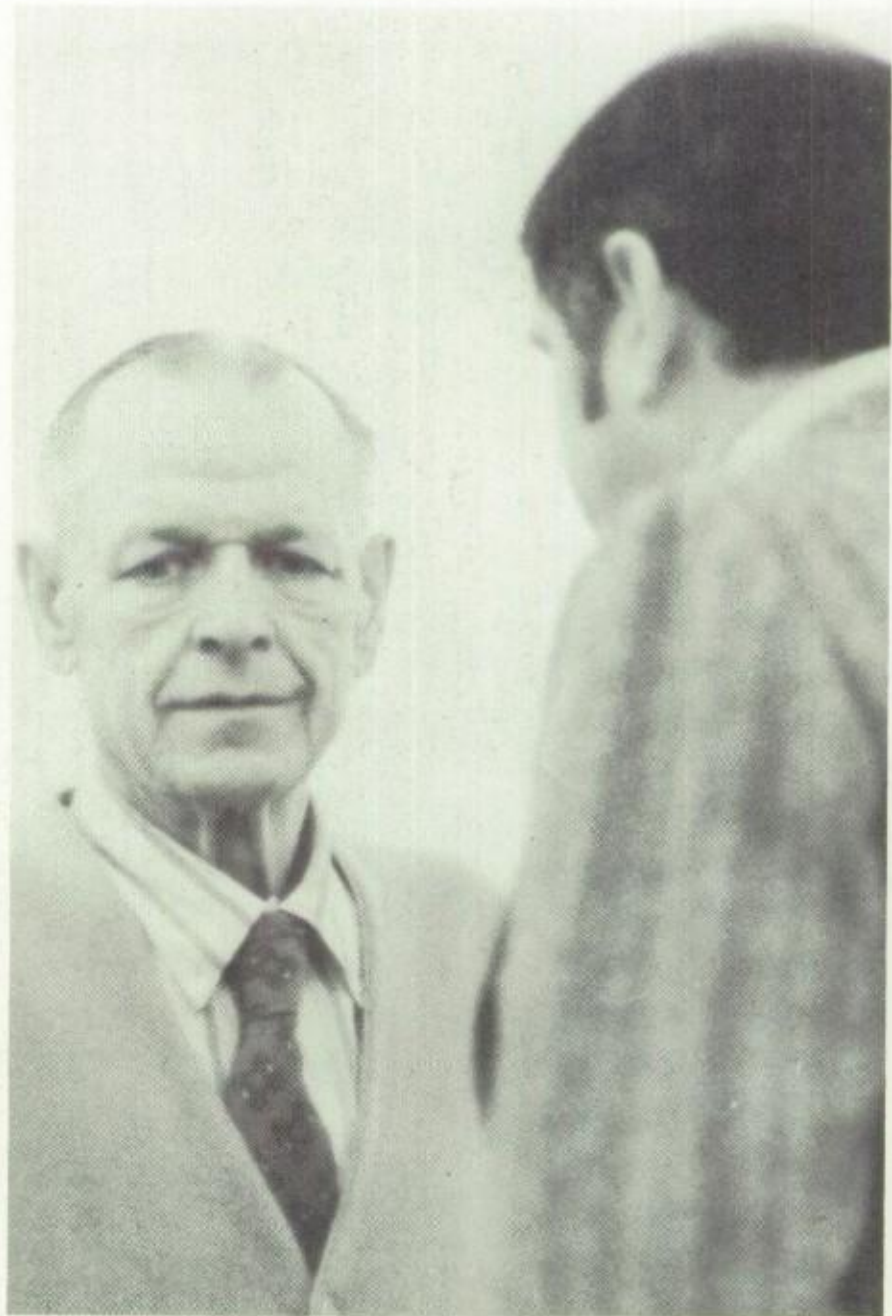

Dedication

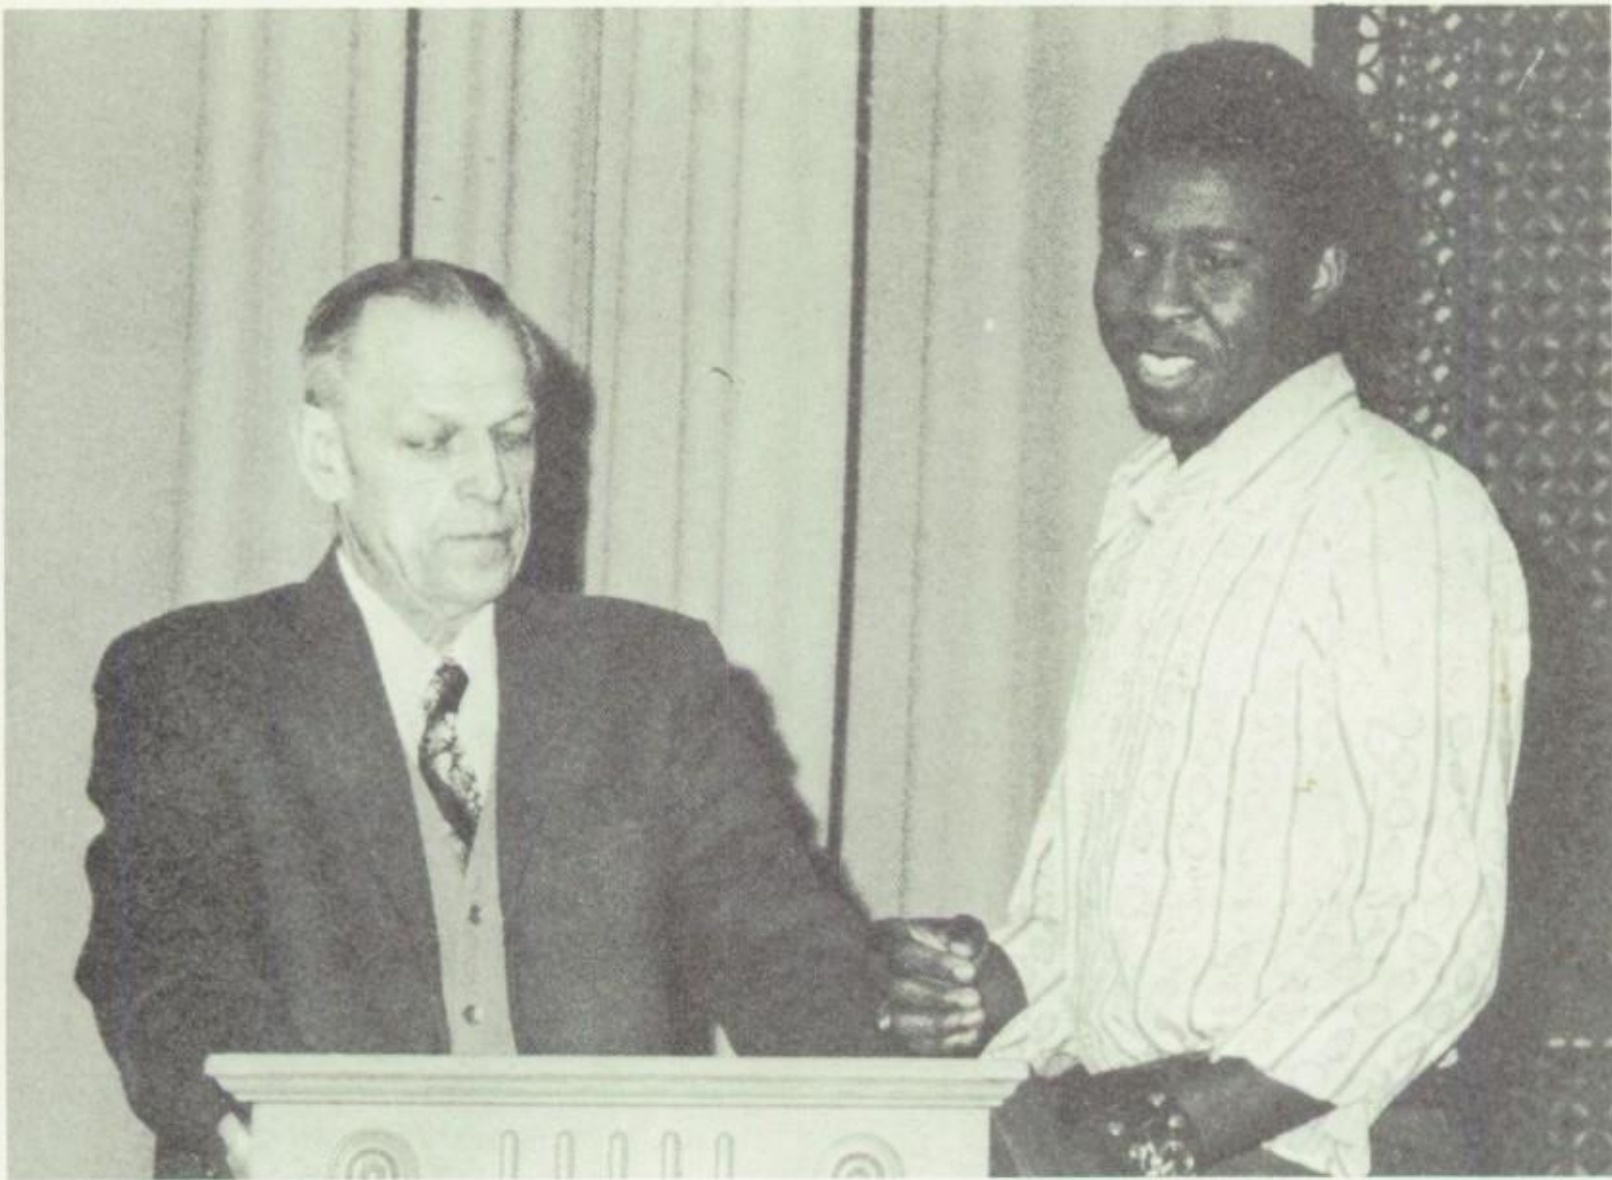

Vincent L. Lesneski

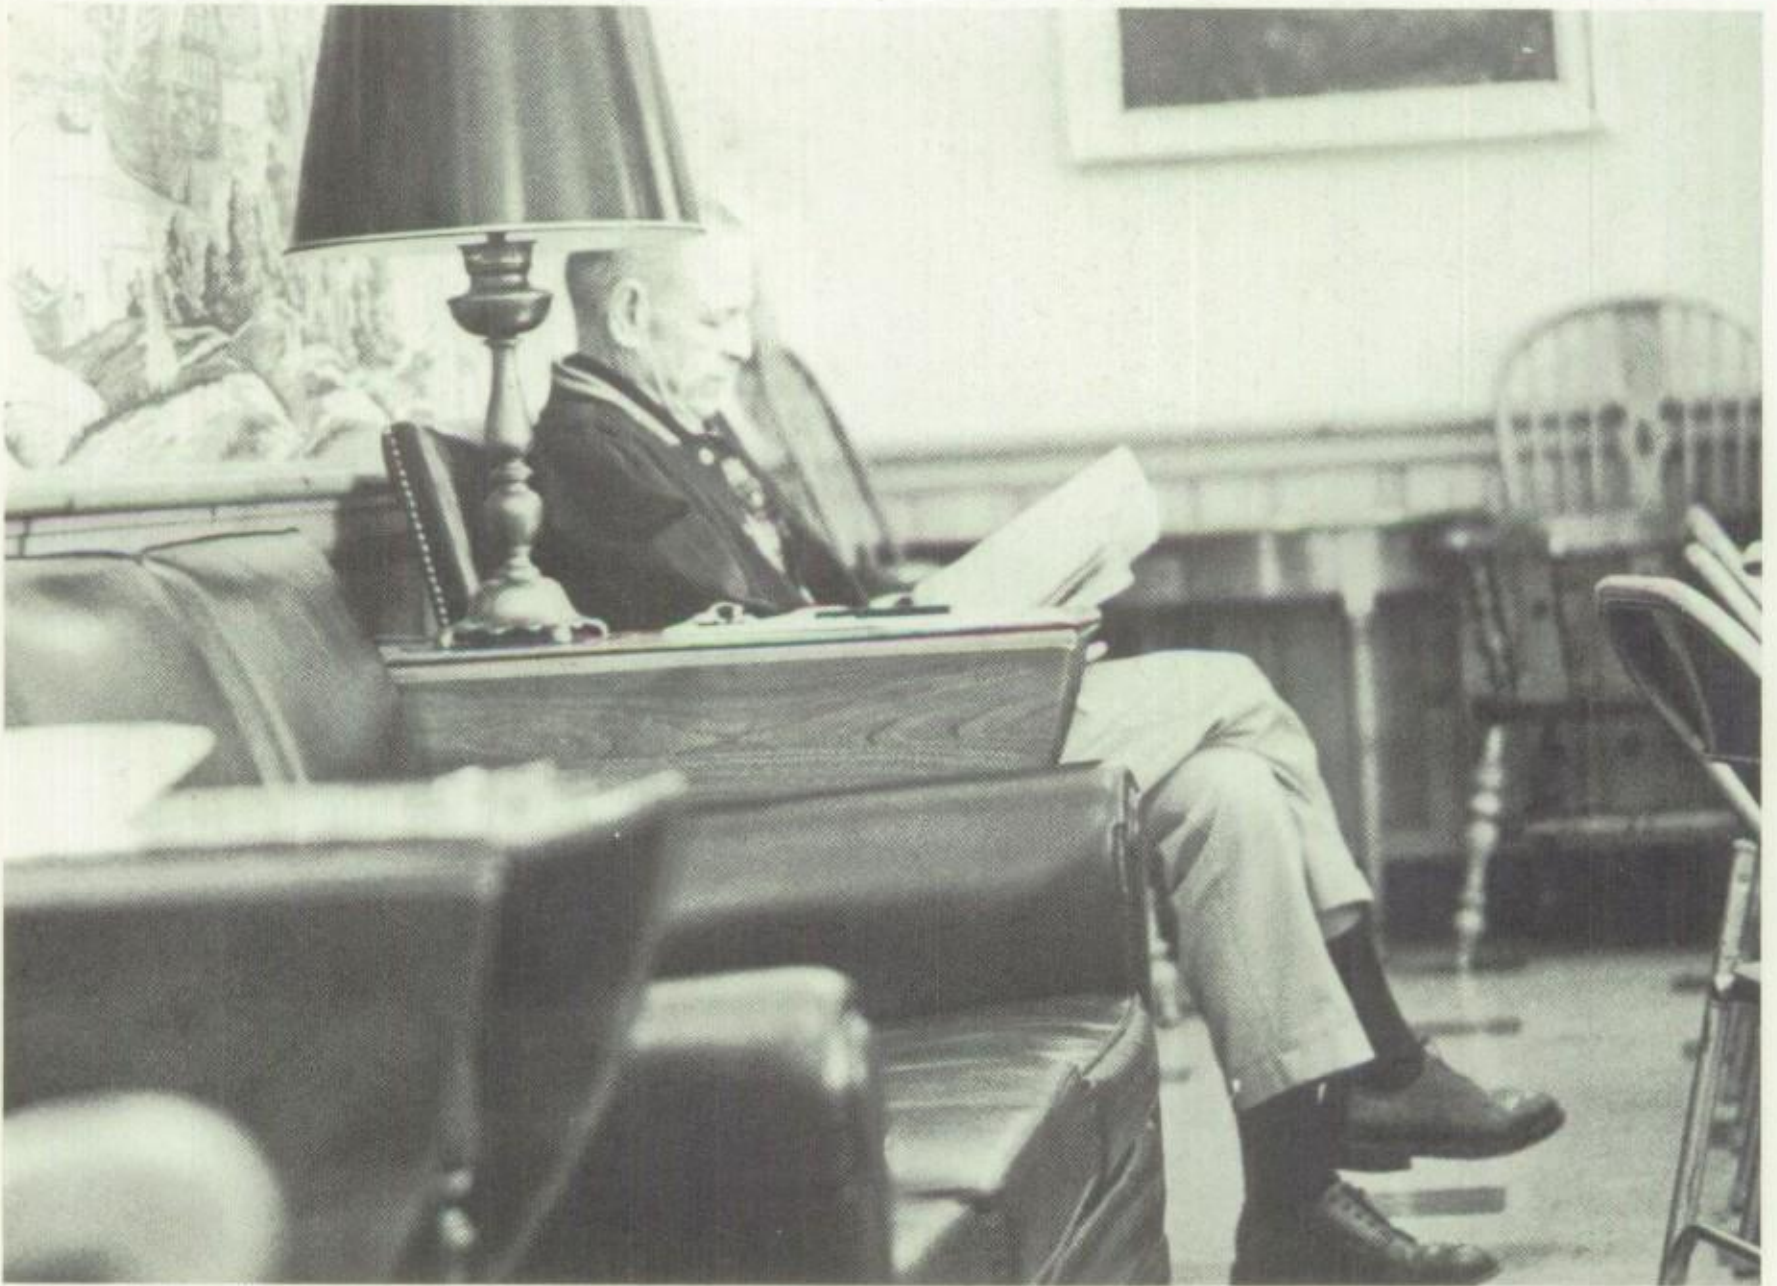

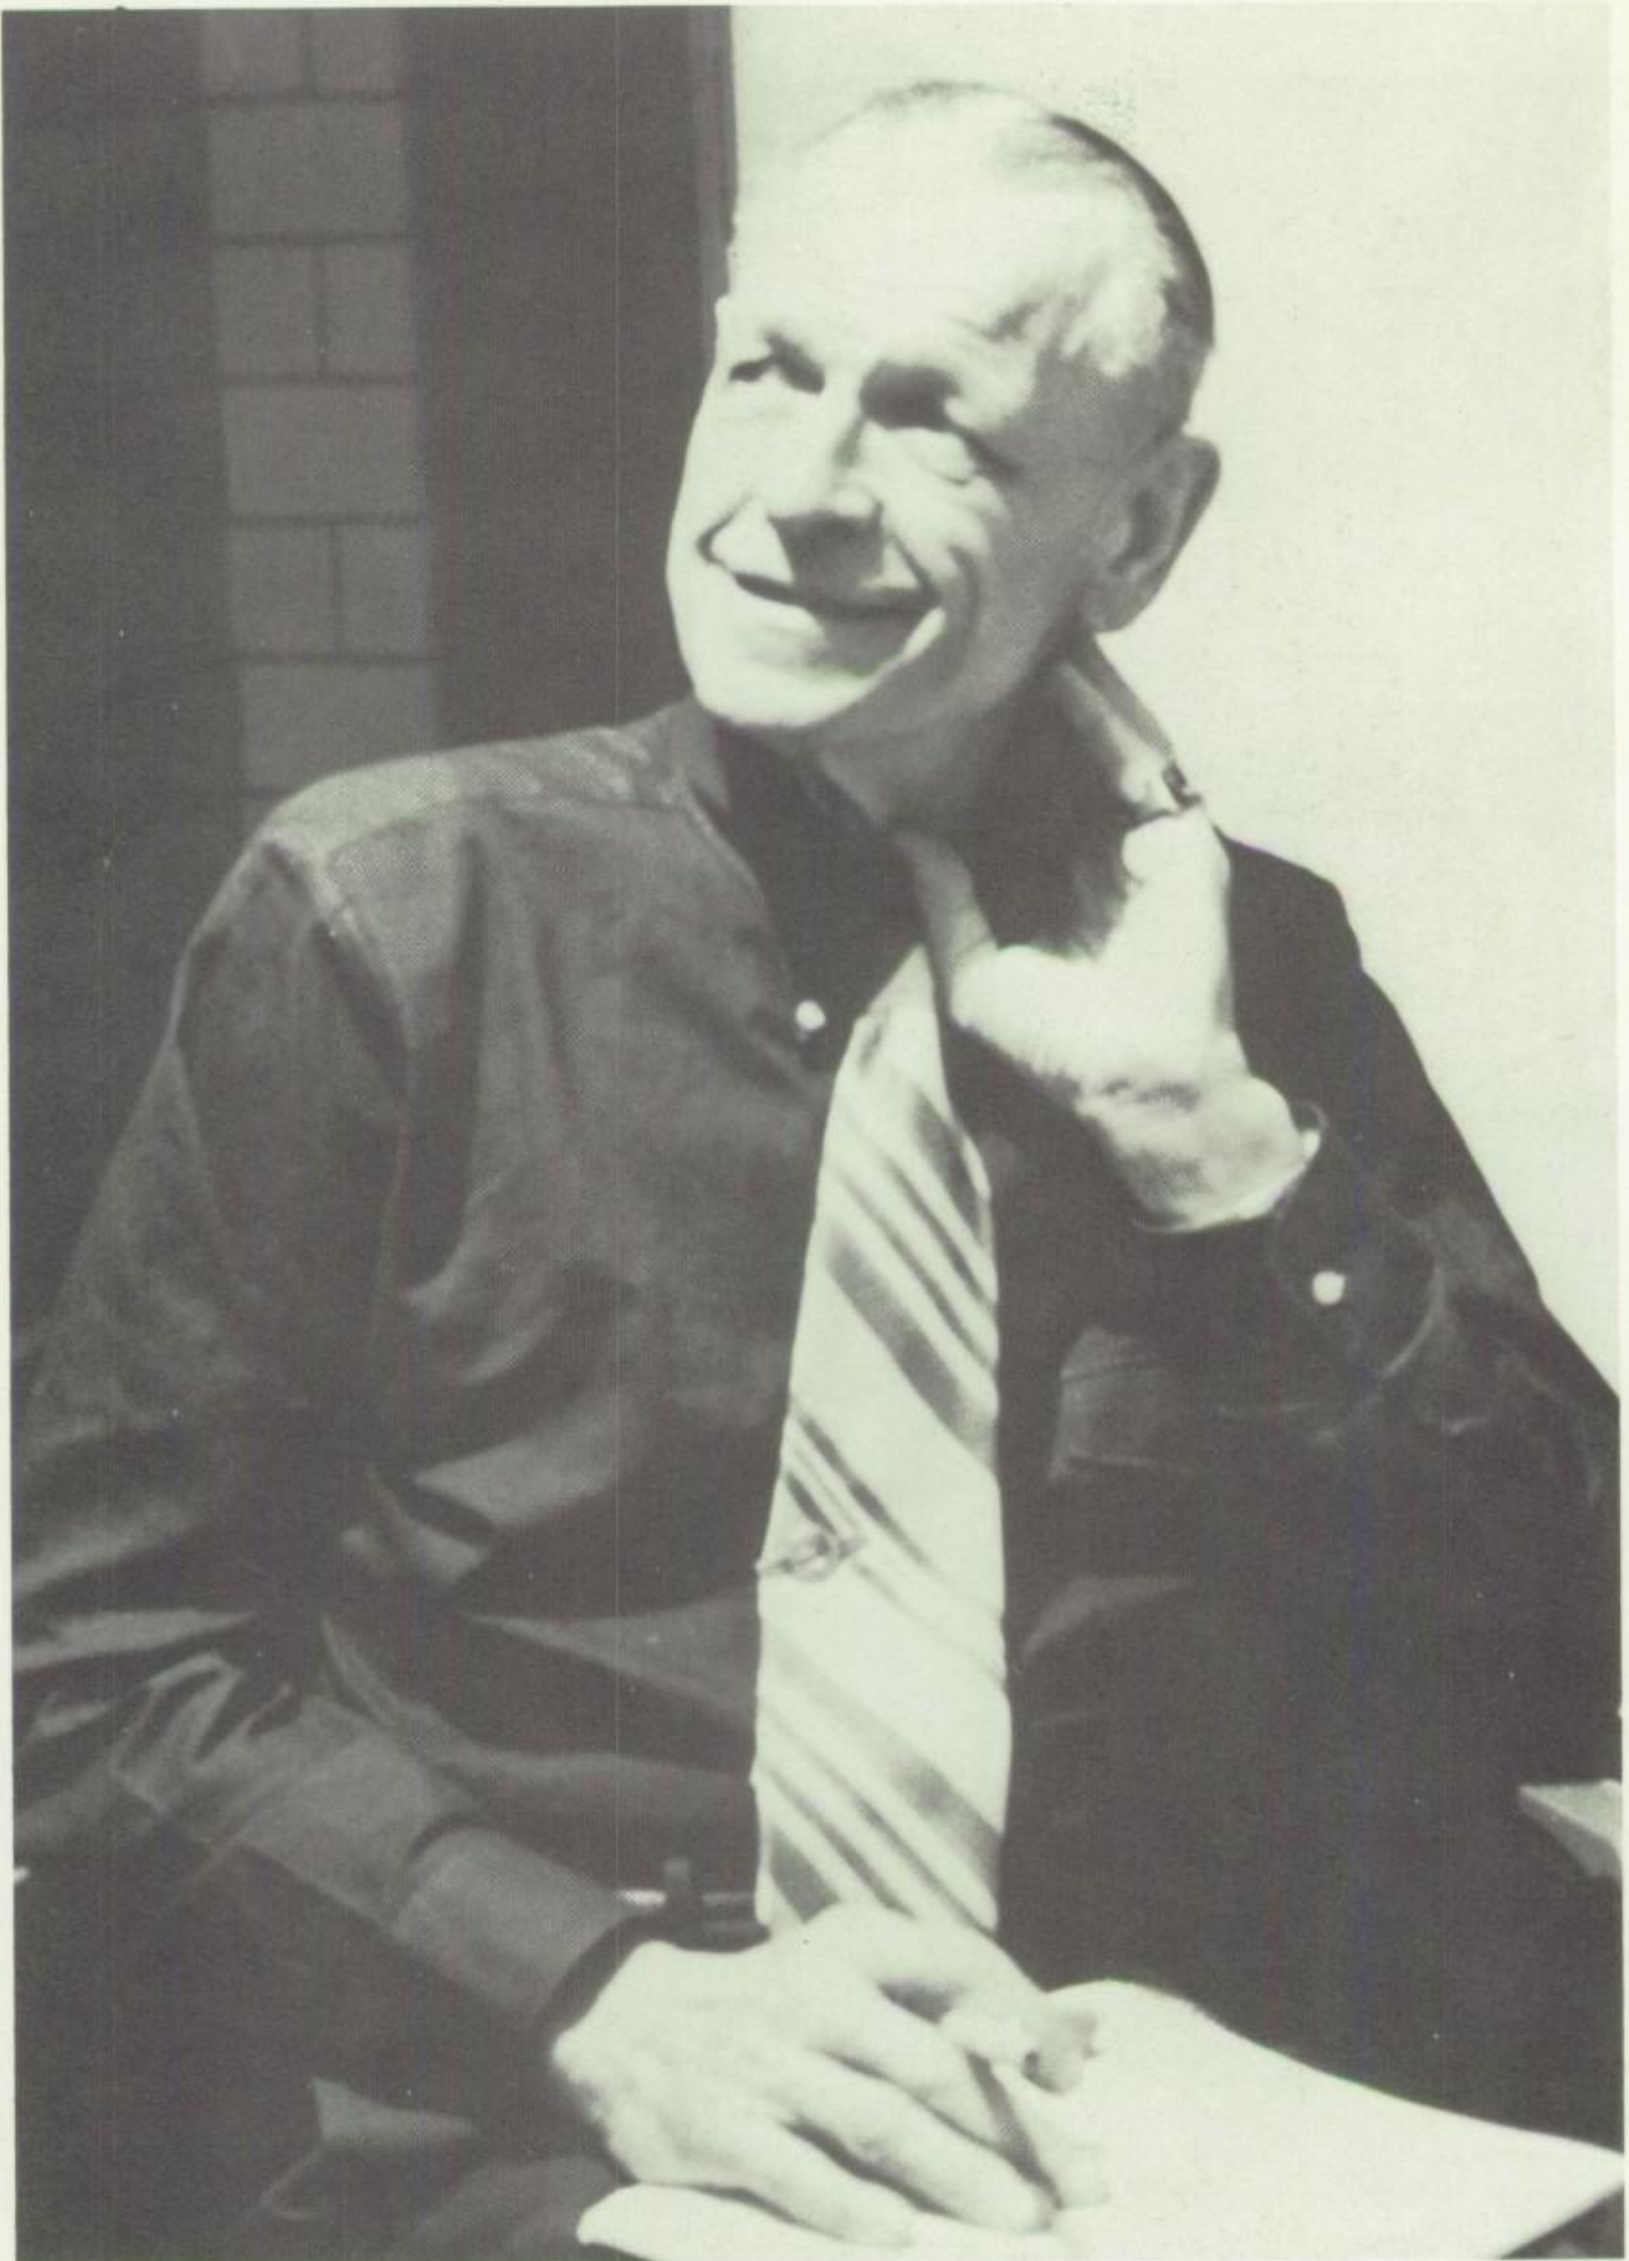

There is a man in Pingry who loves us. Not because we're talented, or because we're athletes, but because we're kids, his kids, all of us. Some of us thank him for the athletic program he runs so well. Others thank him for teaching them how to play the sports that make up such a great part of the Pingry year. But all of us thank him for being our friend when we needed one.

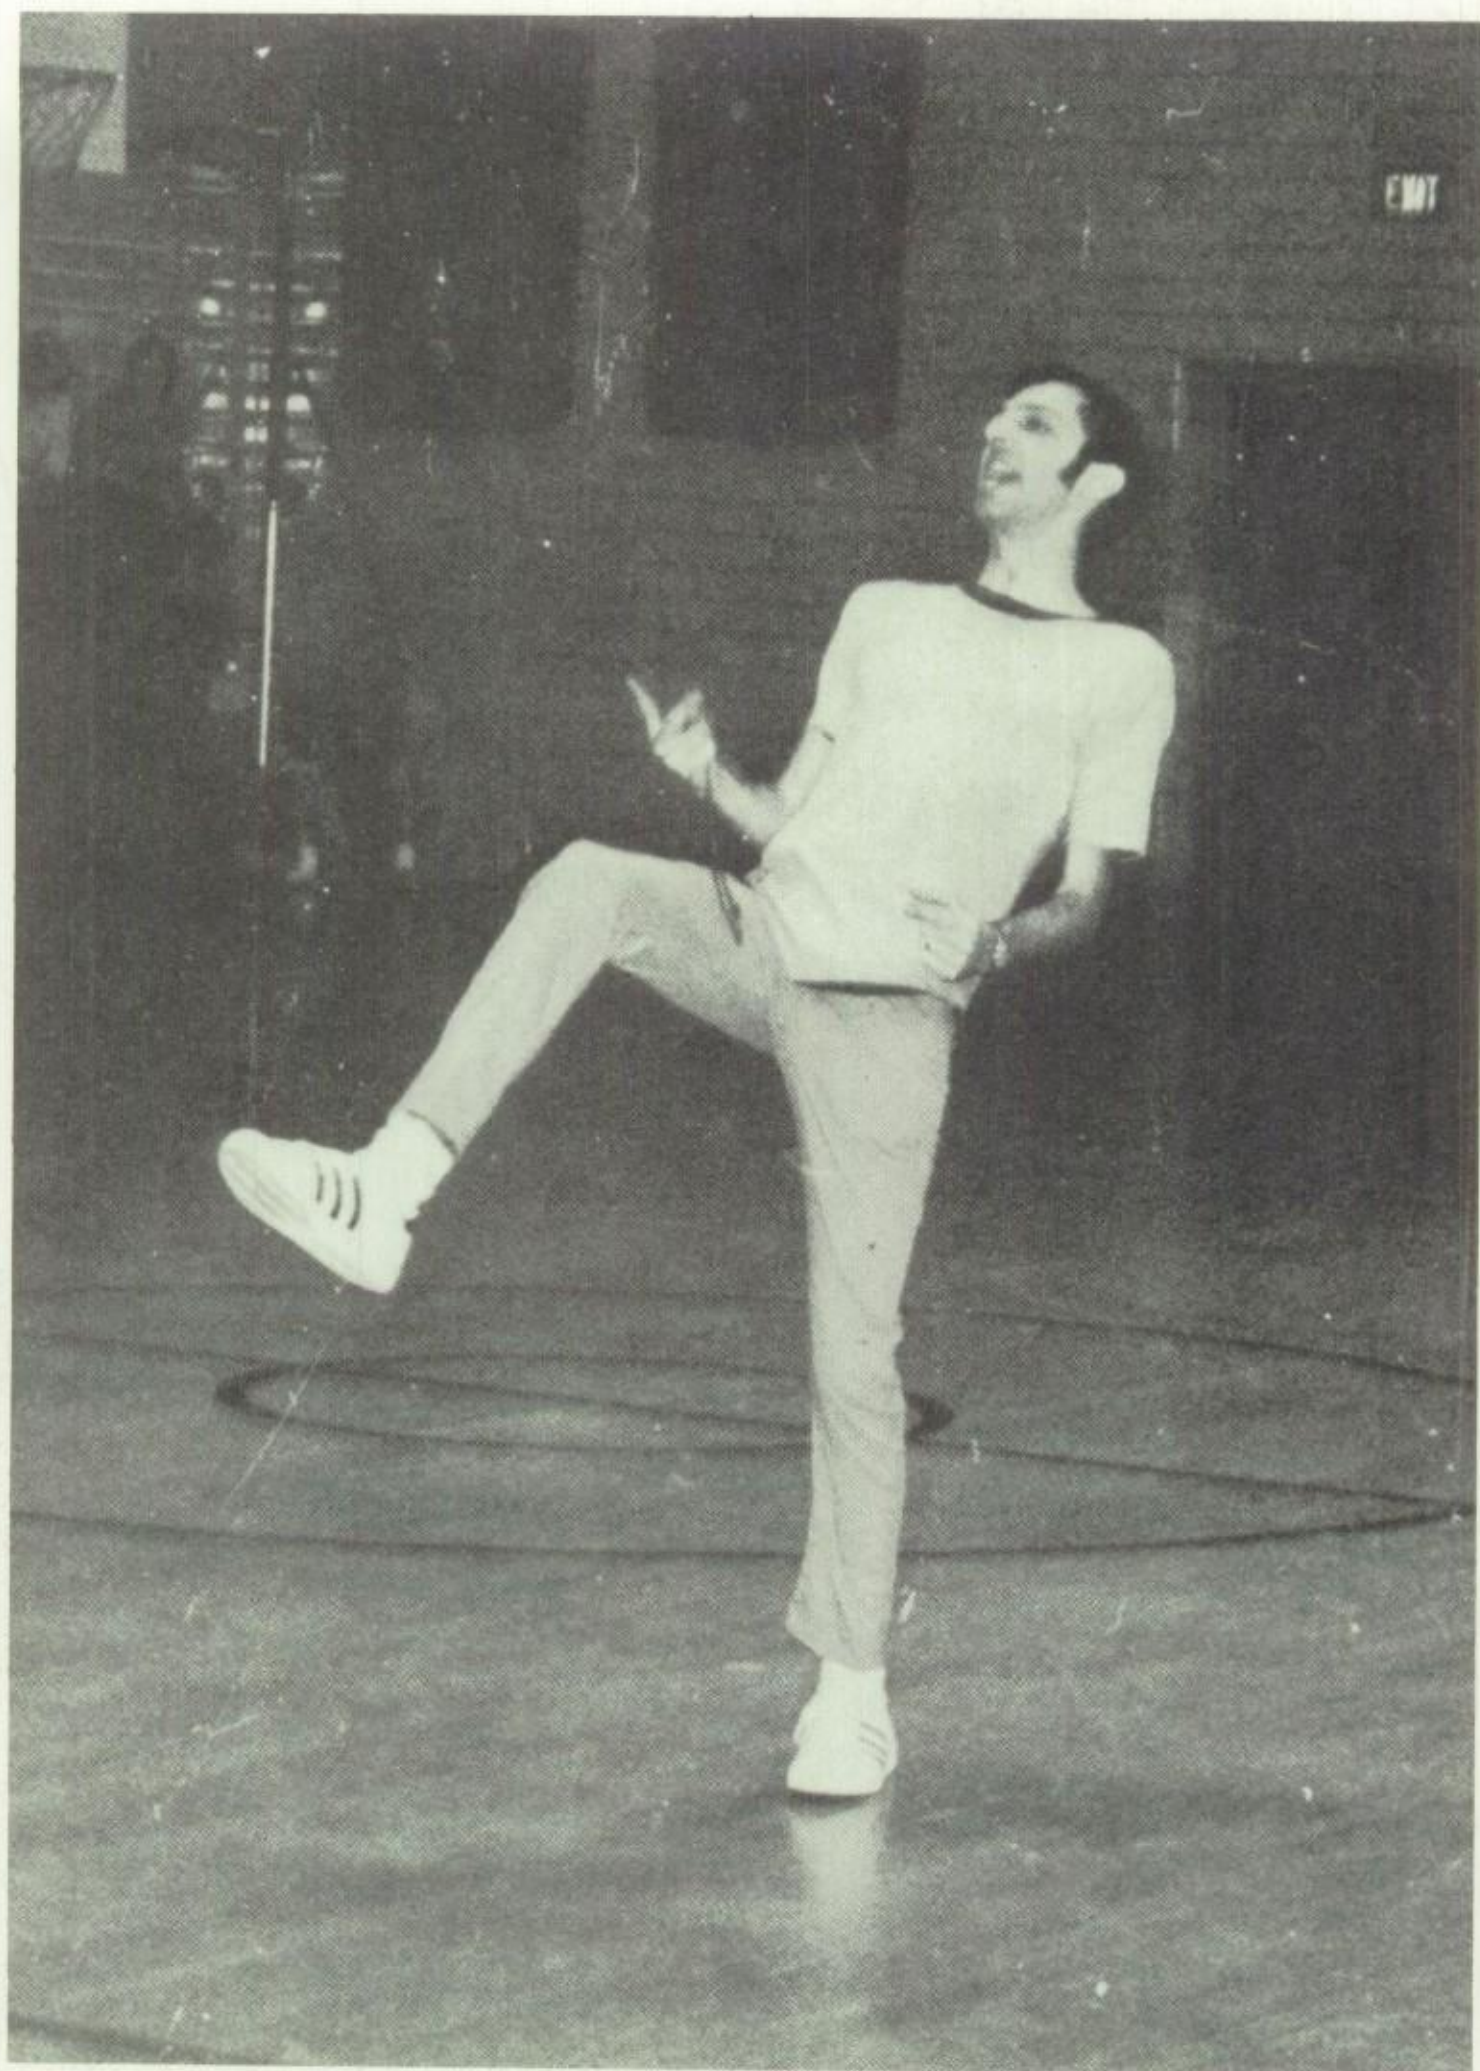

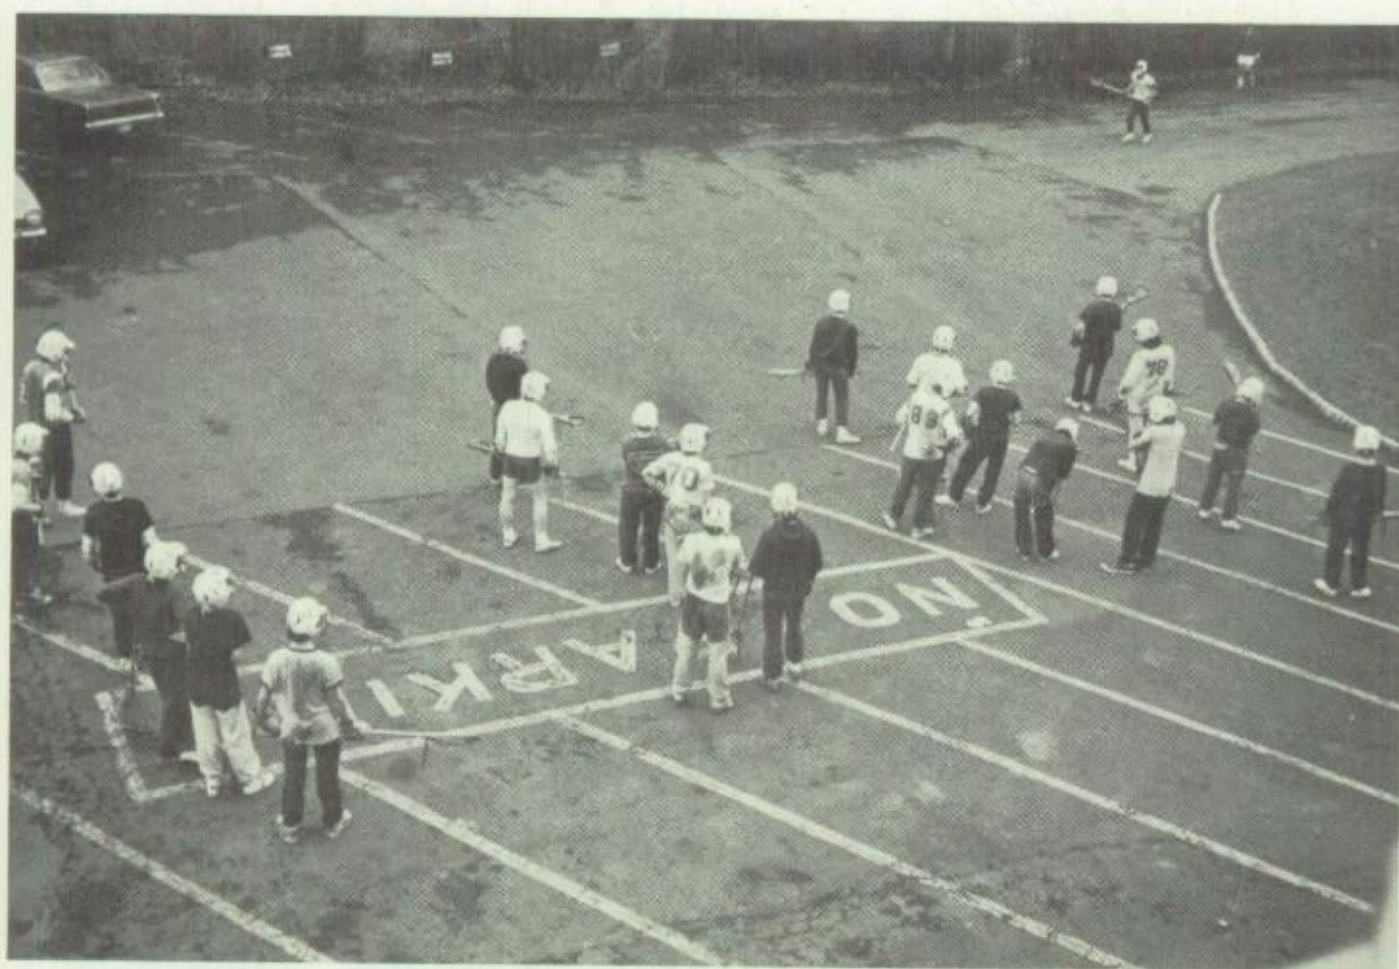

We are leaving and we will miss him. We will lose him to the next class of Pingry students that come to study and learn here. But he will always be a part of us.

One giant step for mankind . . . one little step for me.

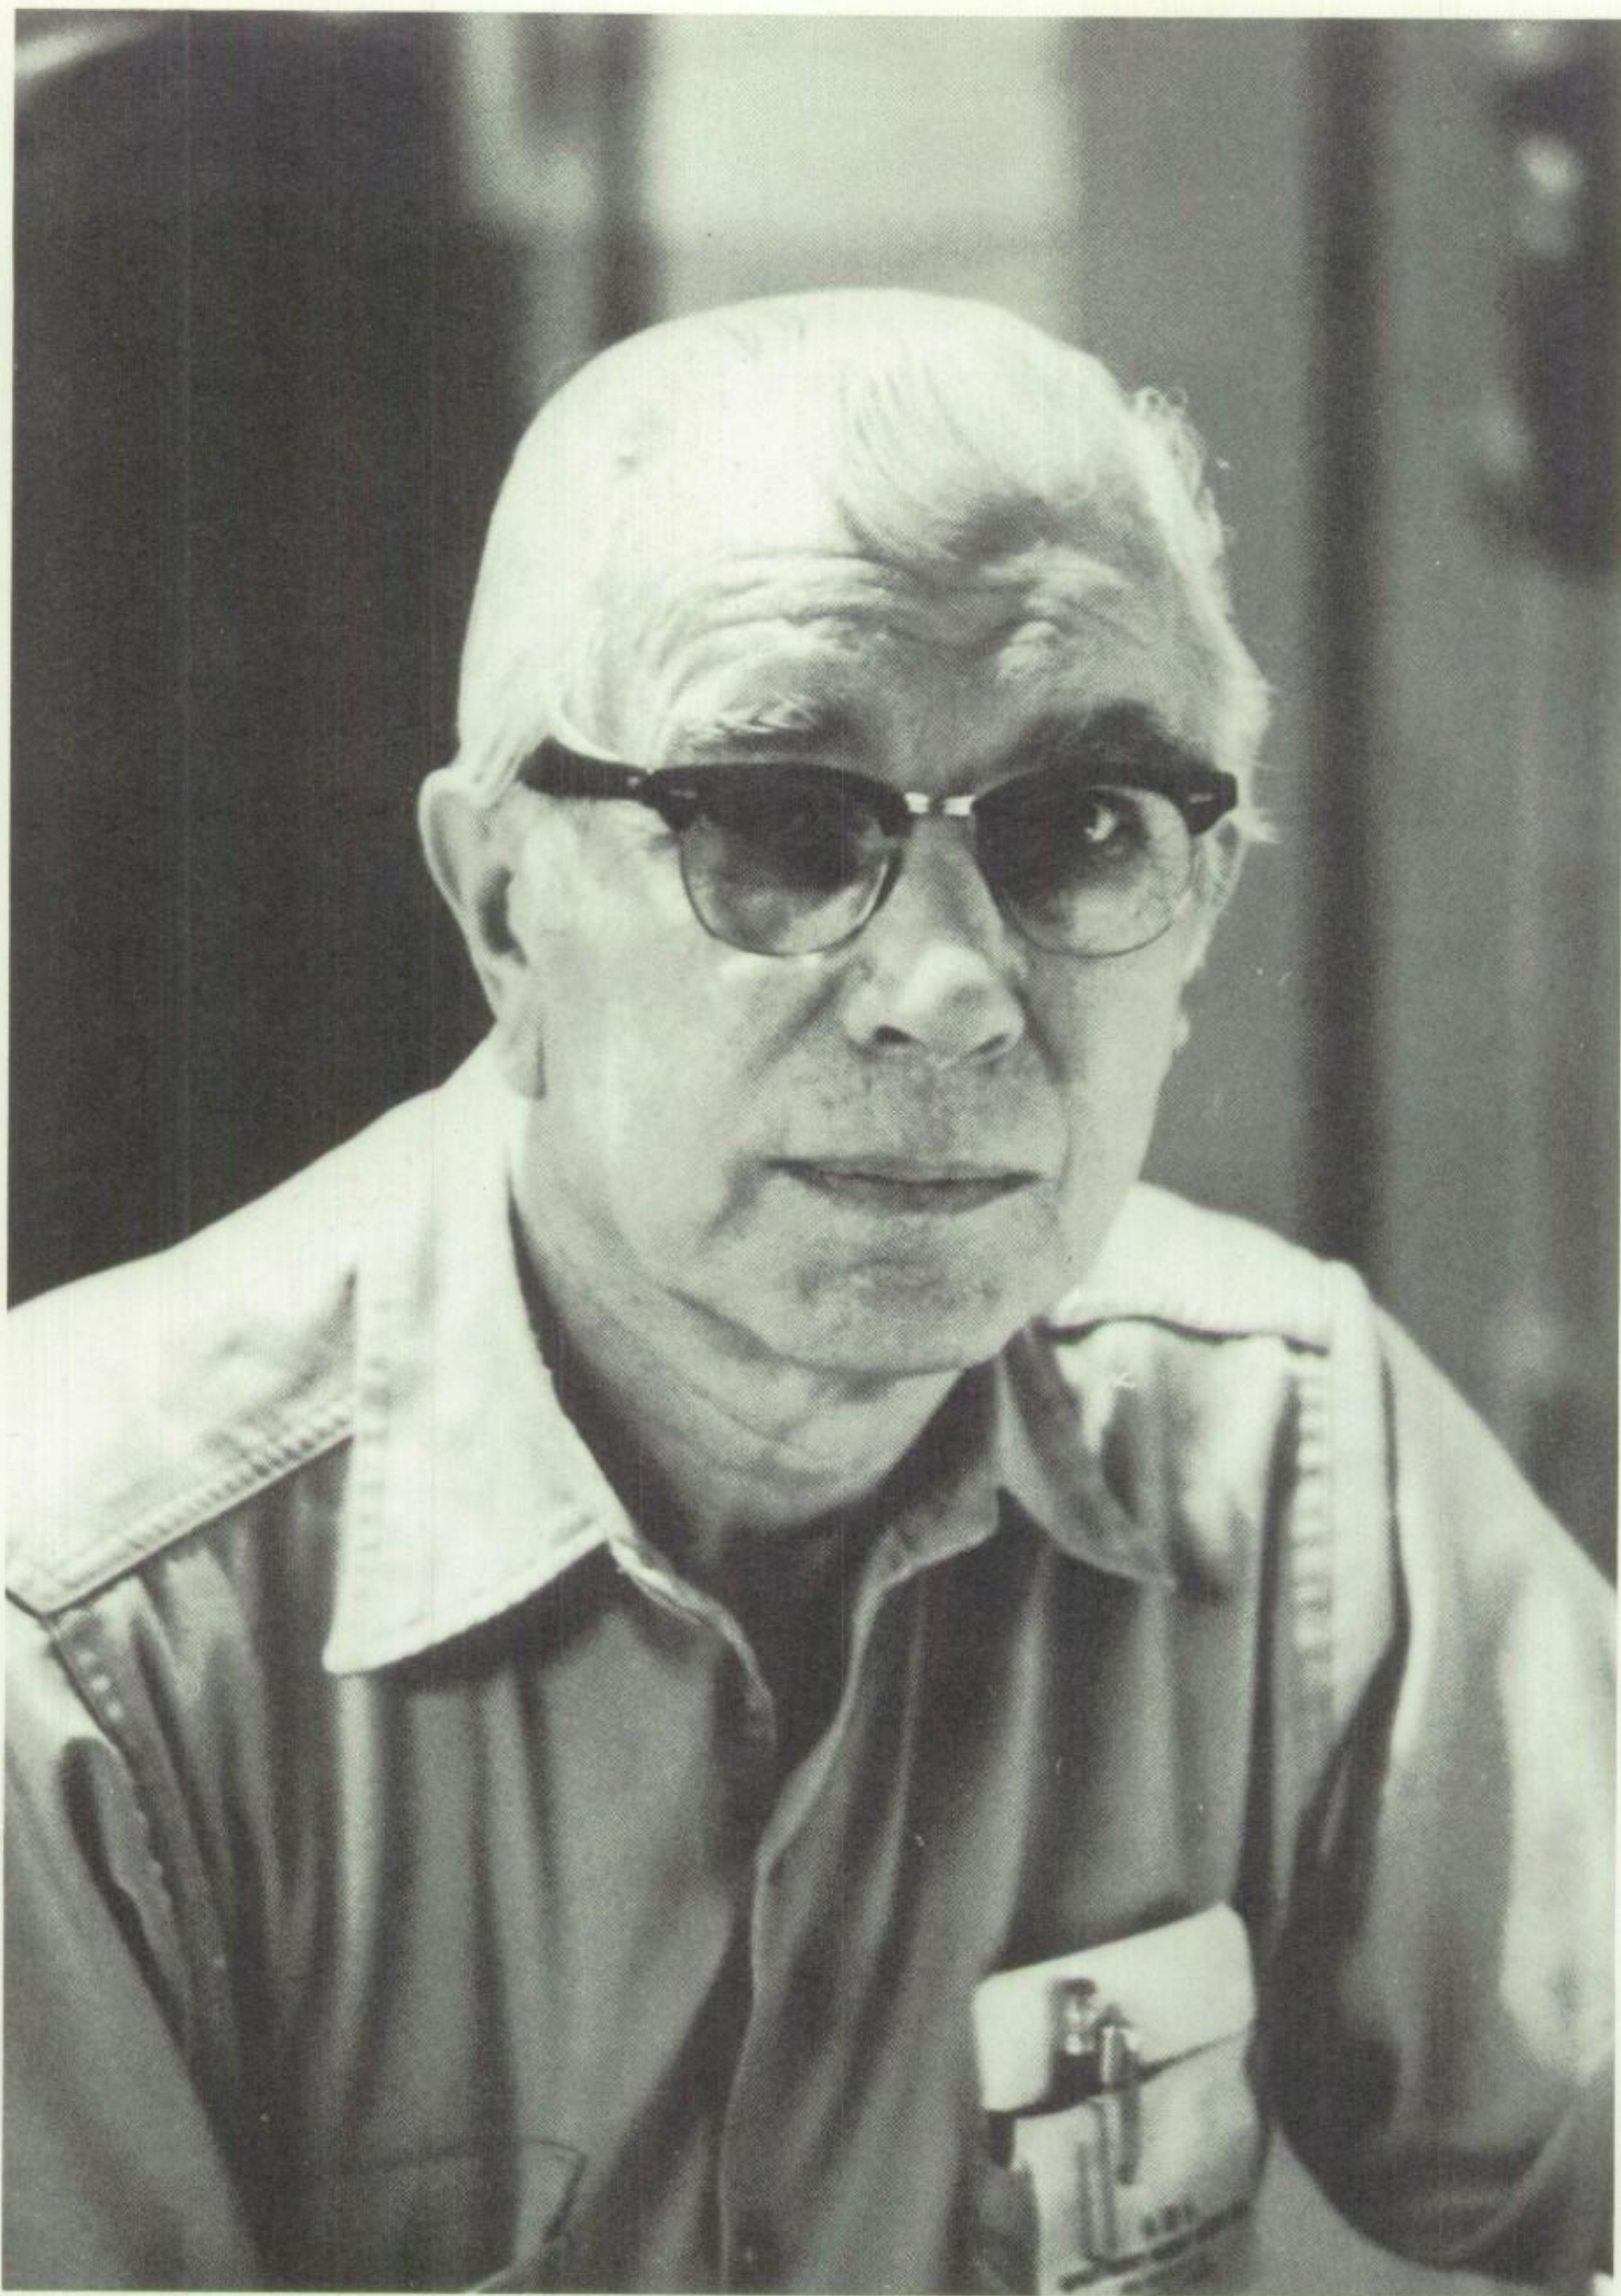

To a Good Person

The 1973 Pingry Blue Book is dedicated to Vincent L. Lesneski, whom we love.

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.
Then quit. No use being a damn fool about it.

The "standard" world model run assumes no major change in the physical, economic, or social relationships that have historically governed the development of the world system. All variables plotted here follow historical values from 1900 to 1970.

The block of granite which was an obstacle in the pathway of the weak becomes a stepping-stone in the pathway of the strong.

—Carlyle

William Ambrose

I went into the woods because I wished to live deliberately, to confront only the essential facts of life, and see if I could not learn what it had to teach, and not, when I came to die, discover that I had not lived.

—Thoreau, Walden

Home is the sweep of the Fenlands and sky
 With armadas of galleons riding on high.
 Home is the old church ashen and sweet
 With a carpet of primroses spread at my feet.
 Home is the straggle of rooks on the breeze
 Winging brokenly home to the chosen elm trees.
 Home is the sail mill galleried and worn
 Which yet grinds fine flour from rich golden corn.
 Home is the hearth where the fire burns bright
 And stars snap and twinkle on a clear, frosty night.
 Home is the friendship of those that I know
 Whose laughter sings with me wherever I go.
 Home is an orchard of trees gnarled and tall
 Framed in a long, curving, mellow brick wall.
 Home is the sweet place wherein I was raised;
 With memories of parents from whom God be praised.
 HOME IS OLD ENGLAND WHERE NOW I WOULD REST;
 MY HEAD CUSHIONED GENTLY UPON HER SOFT BREAST.

I dream a world where man
No other will scorn
Where love will bless the earth
And peace its paths adorn.
I dream a world where all
Will know sweet freedom's way,
Where greed no longer saps the soul
Nor avarice blights our day.
A world I dream where Black or White,
Whatever race you be,
Will share the bounties of the earth
And every man is free,
Where wretchedness will hang its head,
And joy, like a pearl,
Attend the needs of all mankind.
Of such I dream—
Our world!

My eyes collide with stuffed graveyards,
False gods, I scoff
At pettiness which plays so rough
Walk upside down inside handcuffs
Kick my legs to crash it off
Say okay, I've had enough
What else can you show me
And if my thoughts could be seen
They'd probably put my head in a guillotine
But it's alright ma
It's life, and life only.

—Dylan

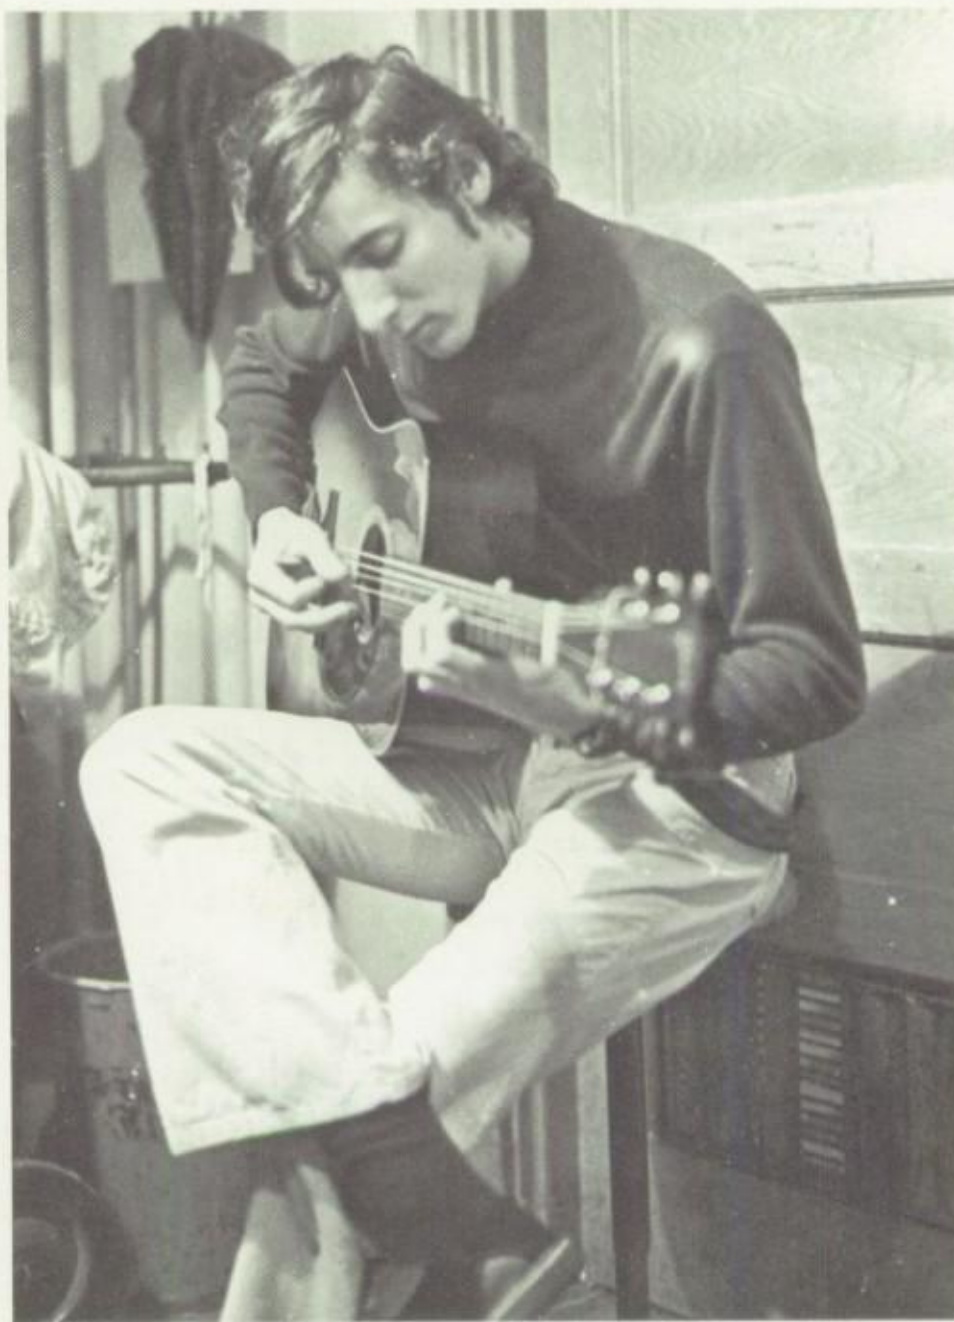

It is the evening of the day,
I sit and watch the children play,
Smiling faces I can see,
But not for me.
I sit and watch as tears go by.

My riches can't buy everything,
I want to hear the children sing,
But all I hear is sound,
Of rain falling on the ground,
I sit and watch as tears go by.

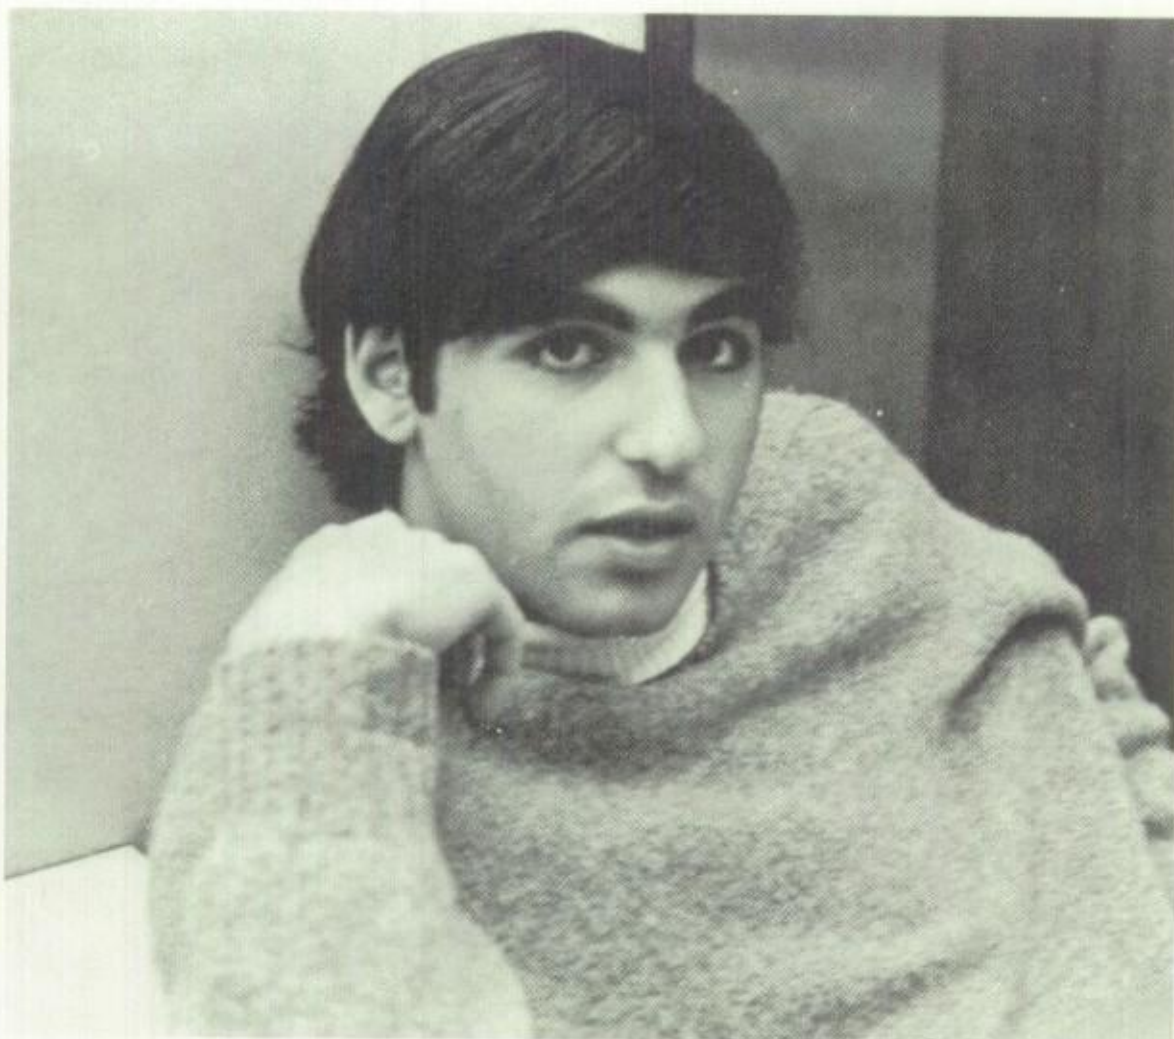

It is the evening of the day,
I sit and watch the children play,
Doing things I used to do,
They think of you,
I sit and watch as tears go by,
I sit and watch as tears go by.

I shall go back again to the bleak shore
 And build a little shanty on the sand
 In such a way that the extremest band
 Of brittle seaweed will escape my door
 But by a yard or two, and nevermore
 Shall I return to take you by the hand;
 I shall be gone to what I understand
 And happier than I ever was before.
 The love that stood a moment in your eyes,
 The words that lay a moment on your tongue,
 Are one with all that in a moment dies,
 A little under-said and over-sung;
 But I shall find the sullen rocks and skies
 Unchanged from what they were when I was young.

GUDBUY, GUDBUY,

LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL.

Class of '73

I've got nothing on my mind,
Nothing to remember
Nothing to forget
and I've nothing to regret,
But I'm all tied up on the inside
And no one knows quite what I've got
And I believe that on the outside
What I used to be I'm not anymore.

Don MacLean
